SECOND SUNDAY OF LENT

In a small community in Bolivia, farmers Eusebio and Victoria Ortega-Velasquez struggled to survive in a harsh climate which limited their agricultural production and made life difficult for them and their children. Through the support of Catholic Relief Services, they formed a cooperative with other farmers, learned how to diversify their crops, and transformed their farm. New production technology taught them how to preserve the environment while they increased their crop yield and quality. Today, they feel life is much better for them. Their children are studying and will have a brighter future.

In the Gospel story of the Transfiguration, Jesus takes with him his three closest disciples. He wants to offer them a glimpse not only of who he is, but also what the resurrection would be about. Jesus wanted to strengthen them for the scandal of the cross and their own future suffering. The memory of the Transfiguration would always give the disciples hope. Their trials as a struggling infant Church would transform them into people of hope.

We are that same Church. If we are faithful, we will suffer, but we are also promised the glory of a new and transformed life. Hope gives us the strength we need.

Eusebio and Victoria Ortega-Velasquez needed hope. They were ready to make the sacrifices to feed their family. Catholic Relief Services gave them the hope and strength which ultimately transformed their work, their lives and their family.

The Church teaches us that we must care for God's creation. Eusebio and Victoria learned new techniques to improve crop yields and get the most out of the land. They worked with others to learn how to ensure that their farming techniques would not harm the environment. In the process of helping them transform their land into a more productive source of income, CRS gave them the tools and support to responsibly conserve the land for future generations.

Lent calls us to prayer, fasting, and giving. The Transfiguration gives us hope that these sacrifices are not in vain. CRS, with our help, gives hope to our brothers and sisters to transform their lives and the world as well. – CRS information ~ Office for Social Concerns, Catholic Diocese of Columbus

VOCATIONS AWARENESS

PADRE SERRA SAYS: Sisters are women just like you. Women, just like you, who have families and friends, and who have come from parishes and neighborhoods and schools and jobs. Women who have come to our area from other places. Women, convinced that ministry within the Church is their right and their responsibility — that the vowed life and community is their vocation. Women who serve wherever they are needed. In retreat centers and retreat houses, in parishes, schools, hospitals, homes, offices, from rural areas to the inner cities, on the streets, on justice and peace committees, on neighborhood organization boards and on parole boards, a part of commissions, agencies, institutes — everyday life. Women who teach and preach and heal. Since their lifestyle is Gospel-centered, they do as Jesus did. The needs of the Church and the world are limitless, and so the ministry they do takes on many forms. If this life appeals to you, make a call to serve Him. Contact the Vocations Office in your diocese. Pray for vocations. — Serra for priestly and religious vocations — www.serraus.org.

Peter, James, and John wanted to build a “tent” for Jesus and just stay on the mountain where His transfiguration took place. But the Son of God, the Chosen One, knew that He must instead keep moving toward His Crucifixion. We, too, must rise from worship and do what we can to hasten the coming of the Kingdom.
