MUSICAL SETTING – NEW ROMAN MISSAL

The new melody for the Sanctus, or Holy, Holy, Holy Lord was introduced last weekend. The music for the new translation can be found on a printed insert in Breaking Bread in the pew. To aid in learning the new melody, the organist, cantors and choir will rehearse the music just prior to the bells at the beginning of Mass. This weekend we will sing the new Sanctus, and gradually add the other parts of the Ordinary of the Mass in weeks to follow. Bishop Campbell has granted permission to local parishes to sing the new translation prior to its universal use on the First Sunday of Advent.

This music setting of the new translation (Mass in Honor of Saint Benedict) is recommended by Bishop Campbell and the Diocesan Liturgy Office. It will be used at Diocesan gatherings in the year to come. The musical score can be found online at http://www.theromanmissal.org/PDFS/Mass_3.pdf.

To assist the learning process, the organist and musicians will play the new setting of all movements of the new music. Please remain seated and follow along to become familiar with the new tunes. On the first Sunday of Advent, November 27th, we will use the Mass in Honor of Saint Benedict exclusively at our Masses.

A BETTER WORLD

Our participation at Mass is meant to spur us on to create a better world, in which all life, including the unborn, is protected. In his encyclical letter on the Eucharist, Pope John Paul II wrote the following: "Certainly the Christian vision leads to the expectation of "new heavens" and "a new earth" (Rev 21:1), but this increases, rather than lessens, our sense of responsibility for the world today. I wish to reaffirm this forcefully at the beginning of the new millennium, so that Christians will feel more obliged than ever not to neglect their duties as citizens in this world. Theirs is the task of contributing with the light of the Gospel to the building of a more human world, a world fully in harmony with God's plan" (n. 20). – www.priestsforlife.org

ROMAN MISSAL

THIRD EDITION

WHAT EXACTLY IS CHANGING?

In preparing the new translation of the Roman Missal, the translators were asked to make the English texts conform more closely to the Latin originals and to retain traditional theological vocabulary that communicates important concepts of the faith. The language that the faithful will hear and pray is more formal and somewhat more complex than the language of ordinary conversation. It conveys rich theological concepts and retains biblical language and images that in some instances had been obscured in the current translation. The structure of the Mass remains unchanged in the new edition of the Roman Missal. In some cases, new options for prayers will be available, and some old options will no longer be present.

In the third edition of the Roman Missal, almost every prayer in the Mass, those spoken by the priest and those spoken by the people, has been retranslated from the Latin to English. Some prayers now recited by memory will need to be relearned, and the familiar language of many prayers recited by the priest will change.

SCRIPTURE AND THE MASS

Sacred Scripture has a revered and important place in the Mass. Every Mass includes a Liturgy of the Word. The Liturgy of the Word includes biblical readings and the singing of a psalm. It reaches its high point in the proclamation of the Gospel. The use of Scripture in the Mass does not end, however, when the Liturgy of the Word has finished. Scriptural words flow throughout the Mass. One of the goals of the new translation of the Roman Missal was to make clearer the links between the prayers of the Mass and the text of Scripture. Some of the most noticeable changes reflect the words of the Bible more clearly.

Specific Changes in the Words at Mass, part 1

A BIBLICAL GREETING

At several points in the Mass, the priest or deacon and the people engage in the following dialogue:

Priest or Deacon: The Lord be with you.

All: And with your spirit.

This greeting is a familiar one in sacred scripture, for example St. Paul's greeting in the 2nd Letter of Timothy: "The Lord be with your spirit..." The new translation will also more accurately reflect the Latin: "et cum Spiritu tuo." The current translation does not reference the word "Spirit" as the Latin does. Though a bit unfamiliar to the ear, this new language more directly reflects the biblical understanding that, through Baptism, the Spirit of God dwells in us and unites us as one Body in Christ.

"I HAVE GREATLY SINNED..."

The long form of the Penitential Act will have the expanded line, "that I have greatly sinned in my thoughts and words..." It will also add the words, "through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault..." after the line, "what I have failed to do..."

Again, these words more directly reflect the Latin text. Also, they draw the people back to the scriptural sources for this part of the Mass: "Then David said to God, 'I have sinned greatly in doing this thing'" (1 Chr 21:8).

This discussion will be continued in the flyer Specific Changes in the Words at Mass, part 2
